16.1.5. as a result of use of the Client's Means of Communication, Telephone Password, Username, Platform Password or encoded files by unauthorized persons;

16.1.6. as a result of the application of the laws or market practice of a foreign country;

16.1.7. where the Bank had attempted to contact the Client using the Means of Communication but the Client could not be reached;

16.1.8. if the Client uses the FI terminology incorrectly or is unfamiliar with it or with the use of the Platform or its language.

16.2. The Bank shall not be liable for any Client's losses and default on the obligations in case of incurrance of any losses or default on the obligations:

16.2.1. due to an act/omission, insolvency of the Intermediary (sub-Intermediary) or any other proceedings resulting in limited activity of the Intermediary or resulting in loss or limited use of FI;

16.2.2. in connection with a breach in relation to settlements or FI transfers where this has happened due to an act/omission by the Intermediary, Client or any third party or due to reasons beyond the control of the Bank, including if settlements are delayed by the Intermediary or settlement system, the Bank only distributes funds received from the party at fault among Clients and only when the Bank has received such funds;

If the Bank's negligence in choosing the Intermediary has not been proved, the Bank may deduct a proportional part of the Bank's expenses occurred in connection with a debt recovery process from the amount to be transferred to the Client.

16.4. If there are no sufficient Assets on the Client's Account to perform settlements in full as of the moment of making settlements under the Transaction or if the Assets are encumbered, the Client undertakes all unfavourable consequences, incl. sanctions, applied to the Bank by the CSD or Trading Venue for the delay of settlements.

16.5. The Client shall be liable for the performance of the obligations of his Related Persons towards the Bank as if he were the debtor himself.

17.2. The Bank shall examine the Client's claim within thirty (30) days of the date of receipt and shall provide a reply in writing. In the case of a claim made by a Client, a natural person who is a consumer, the Bank shall provide a reply within fifteen (15) business days of the date of receipt.

If the Bank is a participant of a foreign settlement system and such condition is set out by the legal acts of the respective country, the Client is entitled to lodge claims against the Bank with regard to the Bank's services provided to the Client in connection with foreign FI registered in the CSD.

18. Risks

18.1. The most significant risks, in the case of occurrence of which the Client may incur losses and/or additional expenses (the list is not comprehensive):

18.1.1. FI issuer risk: FI impairment in connection with deterioration of the financial indicators of the FI issuer or due to default on the issuer's obligations towards the FI owner;

18.1.2. country or political risk: currency/FI trade restrictions in connection with events that affect the national or regional political, economic stability or future development, including corruption in the state administration and in the financial system, imposition of economic sanctions on the country as a whole or in respect of any person, including for the prevention of terrorism or money laundering. Changes in the political situation can be rapid and unpredictable, and may affect the Client's rights negatively;

18.1.3. market risk: the total risk consisting of:

- price risk: adverse FI price changes;
- currency risk: adverse changes in currency exchange rates;
- interest rate risk: adverse changes in market interest rates;
- liquidity risk: insufficient market liquidity, i.e. the sale of currency/FI for the desired price at the desired time is difficult or impossible;

18.1.4. business day and week-end risk: FI price trends can vary greatly, particularly at the beginning and at the end of the week, as well as at the start of the business day. Therefore, the prices at the time when the market opens may differ significantly from the prices at the time when the market is closed, as a result of which Orders can be executed for other prices or remain unexecuted at all;

18.1.5. risk of inefficiency of Order placement: it is not always that the market situation will allow Orders aimed at the limitation of losses to be executed for the prices specified therein;

18.1.6. risk of the settlement system: the inability to make any payments or transactions due to the non-functioning of settlement centres, settlement systems, or deficiencies of settlement systems;

18.1.7. risk of the Intermediary: the risk of suffering losses due to an act/omission on the part of the Intermediary (including fraud, negligence, improper accounting for the FI/funds held in the custody of the Intermediary etc.) and due to the use of the Assets by the Intermediary or the person attracted by him, including transactions with other entities, pledging the Assets (or a part thereof), using the right of set-off or otherwise encumbering with the rights and obligations of the third party, as a result of which the Client may lose the Assets (or a part thereof) completely and irreversibly, or the Client's ability to freely dispose of the Assets may become considerably more difficult;

18.1.8. risk of insolvency of the Intermediary (and the risk of other special administration regimes): total or partial loss, long-term inaccessibility of the FI owned by the Client, difficulties in executing or the impossibility to execute Orders, impossibility to exercise the rights related to the FI, or unavailability of information due to the insolvency of the Intermediary (or sub-Intermediary) who holds the FI in his custody or who is involved in the execution of the Order or in settlements, or another process whereby his activity is restricted or suspended. Custody of FI may be subject to foreign law or market practice which may differ significantly from that existing in the LV, and the Client's right to the FI may be affected by unpredictable decisions by the legislator, executive or judicial authorities of the respective country. The Client may not recover the FI and their value may be compensated (or compensated in part) during the Intermediary's insolvency proceedings in cash by setting the FI value in accordance with the law of the foreign country concerned. The Client is aware that in this case the Bank shall only distribute the funds actually received from the Intermediary in proportion to the Clients to whom the payment concerns. In the case of insolvency of the Intermediary or other similar proceedings there exists the risk that nor the FI, nor their value in cash is recovered.

18.1.9. risk of custody of FI outside the European Union (EU): certain countries outside the EU may have different or incomplete framework for the custody of FI for the benefit of other persons, and there may exist no requirements for the segregate custody of FI owned by the clients, or they may substantially differ from those existing in the LV. The Bank, Intermediary or another person (sub-Intermediary) attracted by the Intermediary may be deemed to be the owner of the FI rather than the client of the Bank, and the FI owned by the Client may be encumbered or disposed of as if they were the property of the person in whose name they are registered in a foreign country, although the Bank has notified the Intermediary that the FI placed in the custody of the Intermediary are owned by clients of the Bank. Even where the laws of such foreign countries enable to open nominal accounts for custody of the FI owned by clients of foreign financial institutions, such as the Bank, due to the specifics of individual countries or FI issuers, such accounts are not always opened. Due to deficiencies in the FI custody system, conduct of Intermediaries or FI issuers inappropriate tax rates may be imposed on Transactions or Client income from Transactions or Events. When purchasing FI issued abroad (i.e. registered in the EU and outside the EU), the Client should be aware that such FI may be held by the Bank with Intermediaries outside the EU and the acquisition and custody of such FI may expose the Client to the risk specified in this clause, including when FI are registered in the EU and/or purchased via the Platform.

18.1.10. legal risk: amendments to law, executive, legislative or judicial decisions, introduction of additional requirements or restrictions, changes in the field of taxation or similar circumstances may cause losses to the Client or prevent disposing of the Assets freely;

18.1.11. risk of enforcement of foreign law: Transactions, FI, custody and accounting of the FI may be subject to foreign laws and market practice (e.g., where the FI issuer, depository, holder, or the counterparty to a Transaction is situated in a foreign country), which may provide for different (including less favourable for the Client) terms of investor protection, FI custody, Order execution etc., they may be unclear, open to divergent interpretation or subject to frequent amendments or restrictions;

18.1.12. information risk: true and complete information may not be available about exchange rates, FI prices, market trends, etc.;

18.1.13. risk of use of the Means of Communication: risks associated with the use of the Means of Communication for performance of the Contract, including for submission of Orders and relating to disruptions in Client's or third-party software/electronic equipment operation, data transmission errors, unauthorized access, distortion, improper presentation of the information to be transmitted, data leakage risk;

18.1.14. risk of use of the Platform: use of the Platform, including use for the submission of Orders, is characterised by additional risks that may occur due to an error, disruptions in the operation of the Platform, connection breakdown, Platform response speed, shortcomings and similar circumstances, Order transmission/receipt error, loss, delay, non-performance, untimely execution, unauthorized access by third parties (including by usage of the Client's Username and password), data distortion etc. The operation of the Platform is regulated and the terms of its use are laid down by the Platform Owner (other than the Bank) who may restrict or terminate the operation of the Platform without notice. Any errors or disruptions in the Platform operation may also be caused by damage to the Platform, software shortcomings and computer viruses. The Bank is entitled but not obliged and it may lack the resources necessary to restore the functioning of the Platform. Any information about the Client and Orders stored on the Platform may become available to third parties as a result of damage to or errors of the Platform. All the conclusions and activities made on the basis of the information available on the Platform are carried out solely subject to the Client undertaking all risks, and the Bank assumes no liability for any damages arising from the use of such information.

19. Confidentiality and Data Processing. Taxes

19.2. The Bank informs that the processing of the natural person data in the Bank is carried out in accordance with the Privacy Protection Rules approved by the Bank.

19.3. In cases and in accordance with the procedure set out in legal acts, the Bank is entitled to publish as well as disclose details of the Order, Transaction and other information on the Client to fulfil the duties provided for the Bank in legal acts. The Bank may attract third parties for performance of such actions and transfer the required information to such parties.

19.4. No tax consultations shall be provided to the Client by the Bank under the Contract.

19.5. All taxes, duties and other payments arising out of the Transactions or Events shall be made by the Client independently, except where the obligation to make such a deduction, pursuant to legal acts of the LV, the country of registration of the FI issuer or the Intermediary, falls on:

19.5.1. the Bank or the Bank has undertaken it;

19.6. the Client shall submit documents and information upon request of the Bank within the term and in the form requested by the Bank that:

19.6.1. is necessary to calculate or withhold taxes, duties or any other payments incurred by the Client according to legal acts of the LV, the country of registration of the FI issuer or of the Intermediary, or to certify that such payments have been made, or that the Client's income or transactions are/are not subject to such taxes, duties or any other payments;
