What is this Product?

Type	The ETC, is an exchange traded series of secured debt securities issued by the Company that are physically backed by the Underlying Asset (as defined below). The ETC structure is not units in a collective investment scheme and is listed on the Frankfurt Stock Exchange and the London Stock Exchange.
Objectives and Policies	The ETC is designed to offer investors a cost-effective way to access the performance of physical Uranium. To achieve this, the ETC will hold the Sprott Physical Uranium Trust, a Canadian Trust ETP (the "Underlying Asset"). The Underlying Asset seeks to provide exposure to the performance of physical Uranium, by holding physical stock in warehouses of 3 different providers. The ETC's base currency is USD.
Term	The ETC does not have a fixed term of existence, or maturity period. However, the Company has the right to terminate the ETC in limited circumstances, as set out in the base prospectus.
Insurance benefits	The ETC does not offer any insurance benefits
Intended retail investor	The ETC is intended for retail investors: i) with the ability to bear losses up to the amount invested in the ETC are not seeking to preserve the amount invested and who are not looking for a guarantee of the amount invested; ii) have specific knowledge or experience of investing in similar products or financial markets, along with having an understanding of the information contained in a PRIIPs KID; and (iii) seeking an ETC offering exposure to the performance of the Underlying Asset.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Summary Risk Indicator

The risk indicator assumes you keep the ETC for 5 years.
The actual risk can vary significantly if you cash in at an early stage and you may get back less.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this ETC compared to other ETCs. It shows how likely it is that the ETC will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 6 out of 7, which is the second-highest risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a high level, and poor market conditions are very likely to impact the Fund's capacity to pay you.

Be aware of currency risk. The currency of this ETC (and/or the trading line of your ETC) may be different from that of your country. As you may receive payments in a currency not that of your country, the final return will depend on the exchange rate.
The ETC does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

What happens if HANetf Multi-Asset ETC Issuer plc is unable to pay out?

In case of a default by the Company, any claims made against the Company will be satisfied in order of the priority of payments set out in the conditions of the ETC and you may face a financial loss of some, or all the amount invested.
The ETC is not protected under any financial services compensation scheme.

What are the Costs?

The party advising on or selling you this ETC may charge you other costs. If so, this party will provide you with information about these costs and how they affect your investment.

Costs over time

The tables show the amounts that are taken from your investment to cover one-off, ongoing and incidental costs. These amounts depend on how much you invest, how long you hold the ETC and how well the ETC performs. The amounts shown here are illustrations based on an example investment amount and different possible investment periods.
